The Road To Success

There is a certain "air" at LHS to compete, and along with this sense of competition comes SUCCESSFUL students. The students in this picture are mere representatives of the many successes Lebanon High School will graduate. These are students who symbolize achievement in academics, athletics, organizations, and even personal accomplishment in setting goals.

Setting objectives for yourself and accomplishing them is what success is all about. Passing a test, making a touchdown, getting a date for Friday night, memorizing ALL your vocabulary words are goals made successful. But what about future goals? Will you be a success in whatever or whoever you want to tackle? Since your future is up to you, why not make it a success?

It will be a hard and long process, just as high school sometimes is; but the idea is to be happy and to be a success in whatever it is you want. In the beginning the road seems stormy with twists and turns at every bend, but don't wander from the ROAD TO SUCCESS, because what lies at the end is your happiness which you have earned from the goals, competition, and finally SUCCESS.

By Editor-in-chief,

Erin Dulhanty

Where did it all start? Historians agree that Lebanon High School is rich in tradition and success. Just how far back in time? I will briefly trace some milestones in Lebanon's educational history.

Little is known of this community's early schools, because few records were kept. The first school of note was a county seminary in 1842. According to Mr. Ralph Stark, Boone County Historian, it was about thirty years later that the old Presbyterian Academy was purchased and used as a school, with a newer structure built in 1884. In 1890 the old Northside School was built to house both elementary and high school grades. Then, in 1908 the school grades were moved to the North Lebanon Street location, which is now a parking lot next to Memory Hall.

When the new high school was built on North Street and Meridian (presently Memory Hall) in 1923, Lebanon not only had the finest school structure in Boone County, but was then considered to be the educational leader in this area.

Finally, the next step to improve the educational setting of our young people came in 1957, when LHS was built here on Essex Drive. Perhaps some of your parents were among the first graduates from the new school in the Class of 1958.

Since its beginning, Lebanon High School has been growing and leading the county in its pursuit of excellence in academics, athletics, and genuine student development. The welfare of all pupils and their preparation for a successful future is the main goal of the staff, administration, and School Board. The tradition and pacesetting activities that are forthcoming from students and staff are to be admired.

One can truly reflect on LHS as a leader in the educational development of our young people. From our early days and the hard work of the pioneers to the present students and staff, I, like you, am honored to be associated with a school, students, and staff members who are SUCCESSFUL!

"... And Should Be Considered Graduates Of The Class, 1983"

The LHS Class of 1983 began its Commencement on Sunday, May 22, with President Todd Meece leading the procession of soon-to-be graduates through a successful and memorable chapter in their lives.

Although graduation is often a hot and long ceremony, it proved to be once again an original with Lebanon's uniqueness in the Candelabrum lighting by the Honor Committee. Valedictorian Kerri Randel and Salutatorians Laura Lee and Janelle Walker gave speeches of hope and success to their classmates.

Graduation from Lebanon High School is an all-important time, and the class of 1983 made its ceremony a special one.

Better Late Than Never . . . And It Was Better!

The best part of the prom for the juniors, besides the dance itself, was building it! The entire Armory was filled with jokes, laughter, hard work, and a feeling of unity between everyone. It was a hard and sometimes tiresome job; but through all the running around to ten different places to hunt the necessary materials and equipment, through putting decorations into place — only to fall down and to be re-strung, re-painted, or re-stapled — the juniors, at the end of a weary week, saw how proud they would be that important night.

The prom would not have been possible without a courageous, dedicated, and hard-working lady who has the amazing capacity to tolerate ALMOST anything from the juniors during pre-prom time. Although Janie Reynolds was close to a nervous breakdown putting up with her committee workers that fateful week, the junior class with Janie's constant guidance accomplished a successful prom that made the Class of 1984 proud!

Reflections Of Sweet Memories

The juniors worked extremely hard, making preparations for the 1983 Prom. They wanted this prom to be extra-special because of the realization that this important event holds everlasting memories.

The theme "Reflection of Sweet Memories" filled the Armory with pink balloons, shiny letters and pink and maroon and white crepe paper. A garden scene added to the mystical effect.

The crowning of the 1983 Prom Queen, Valerie Caylor, highlighted the evening. Laura Lee, the 1982 recipient, gave the crown and roses to a tearful and happy new queen. Members of the court were Jessica Chesney, Colleen Feldt, Tracey Hawkins, Lisa Linton, Brenda Mansholt, and Anita Williams.

The Post-Prom ended the evening's festivities, with the playing of the carnival games and casino for Tiger Bucks. These Tiger Bucks were then used at the auction. Good food also was a major part of Post-Prom.

The 1983 Prom was cited by students and faculty as a huge success. Congratulations Class of 1984!

Tigers Go To The Movies

Tigers Go to the Movies was the theme selected by the LHS Student Council for the 1983 Homecoming festivities. Monday was "security" day and all students were asked to be accompanied by their childhood security blankets, teddy bears, etc. Tuesday was college day and students all wore their best college jerseys.

Wednesday was t-shirt day and that evening the powder puff game was played in a hard fought contest won by sophomores and juniors. After the game, Lucien Perras was crowned Homelycoming queen and promised a super game in his victory speech. Thursday was movie day and students dressed as characters from their favorite movies. Seniors showed their dominating skills at the senior — faculty softball game.

Friday was black and gold day and classes ended early for the annual pep session and parade where the juniors took top for their "Wizard of Oz" float. Halftime festivities included the crowning of Brenda Mansholt as the 1983 Homecoming Queen. A post-Homecoming dance ended the festivities of the week marking yet another successful Homecoming.

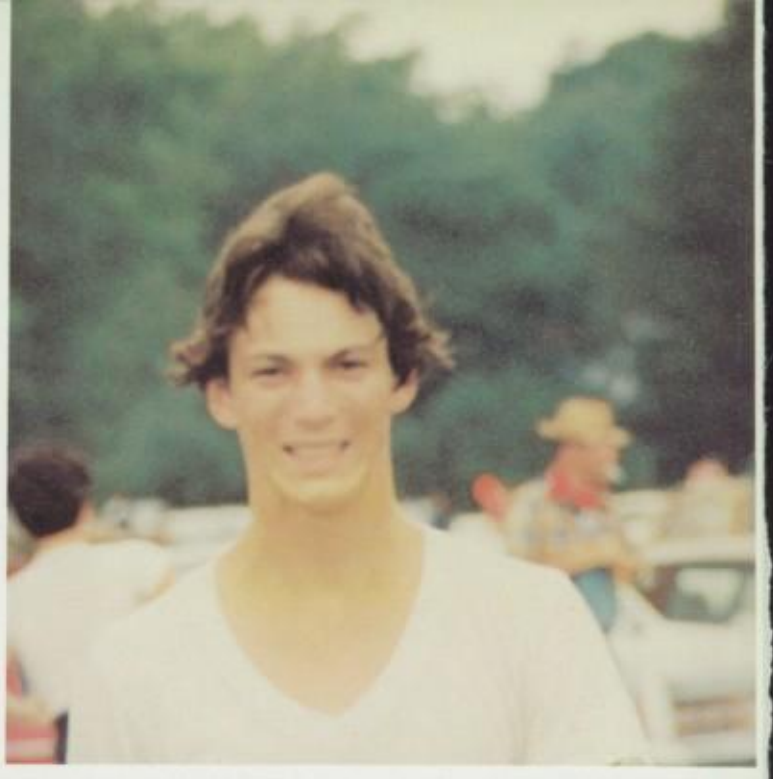
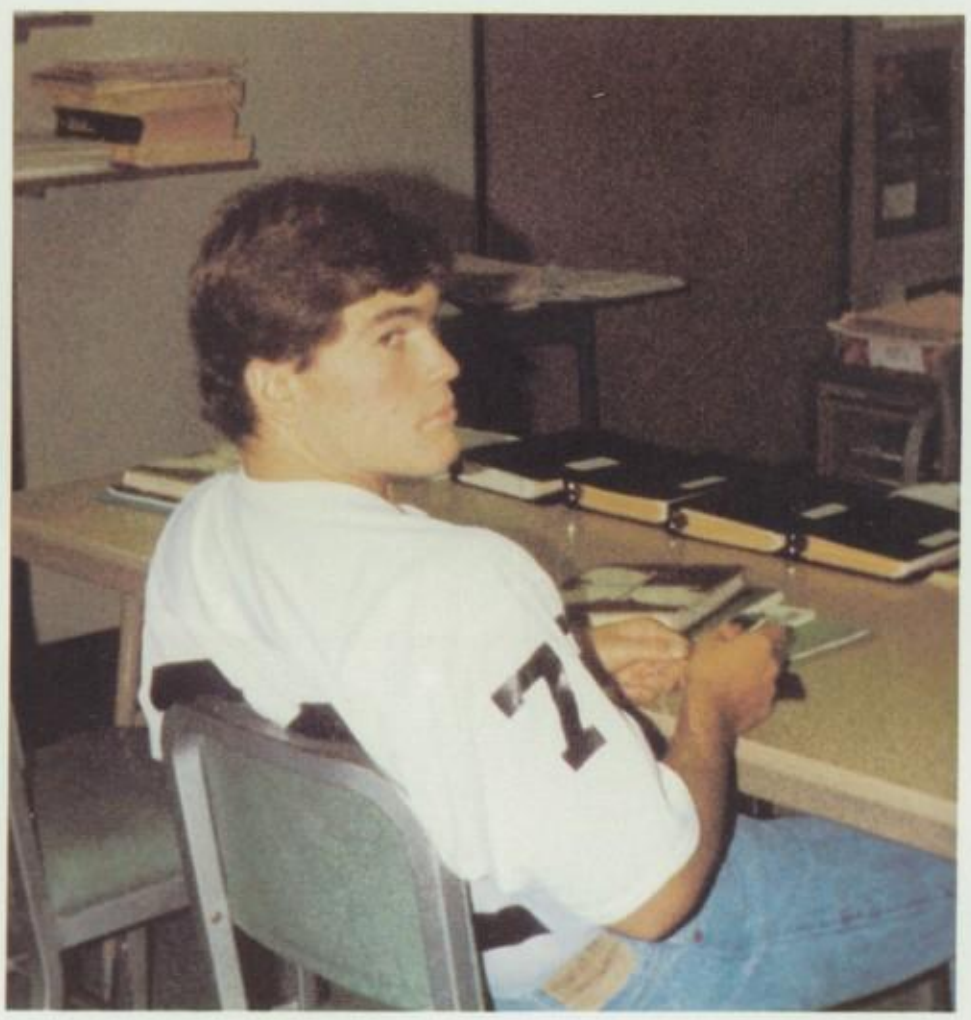
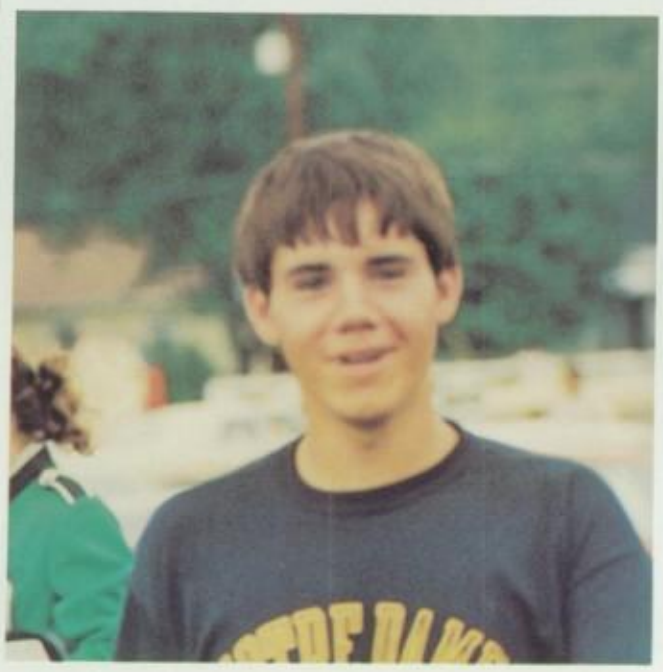
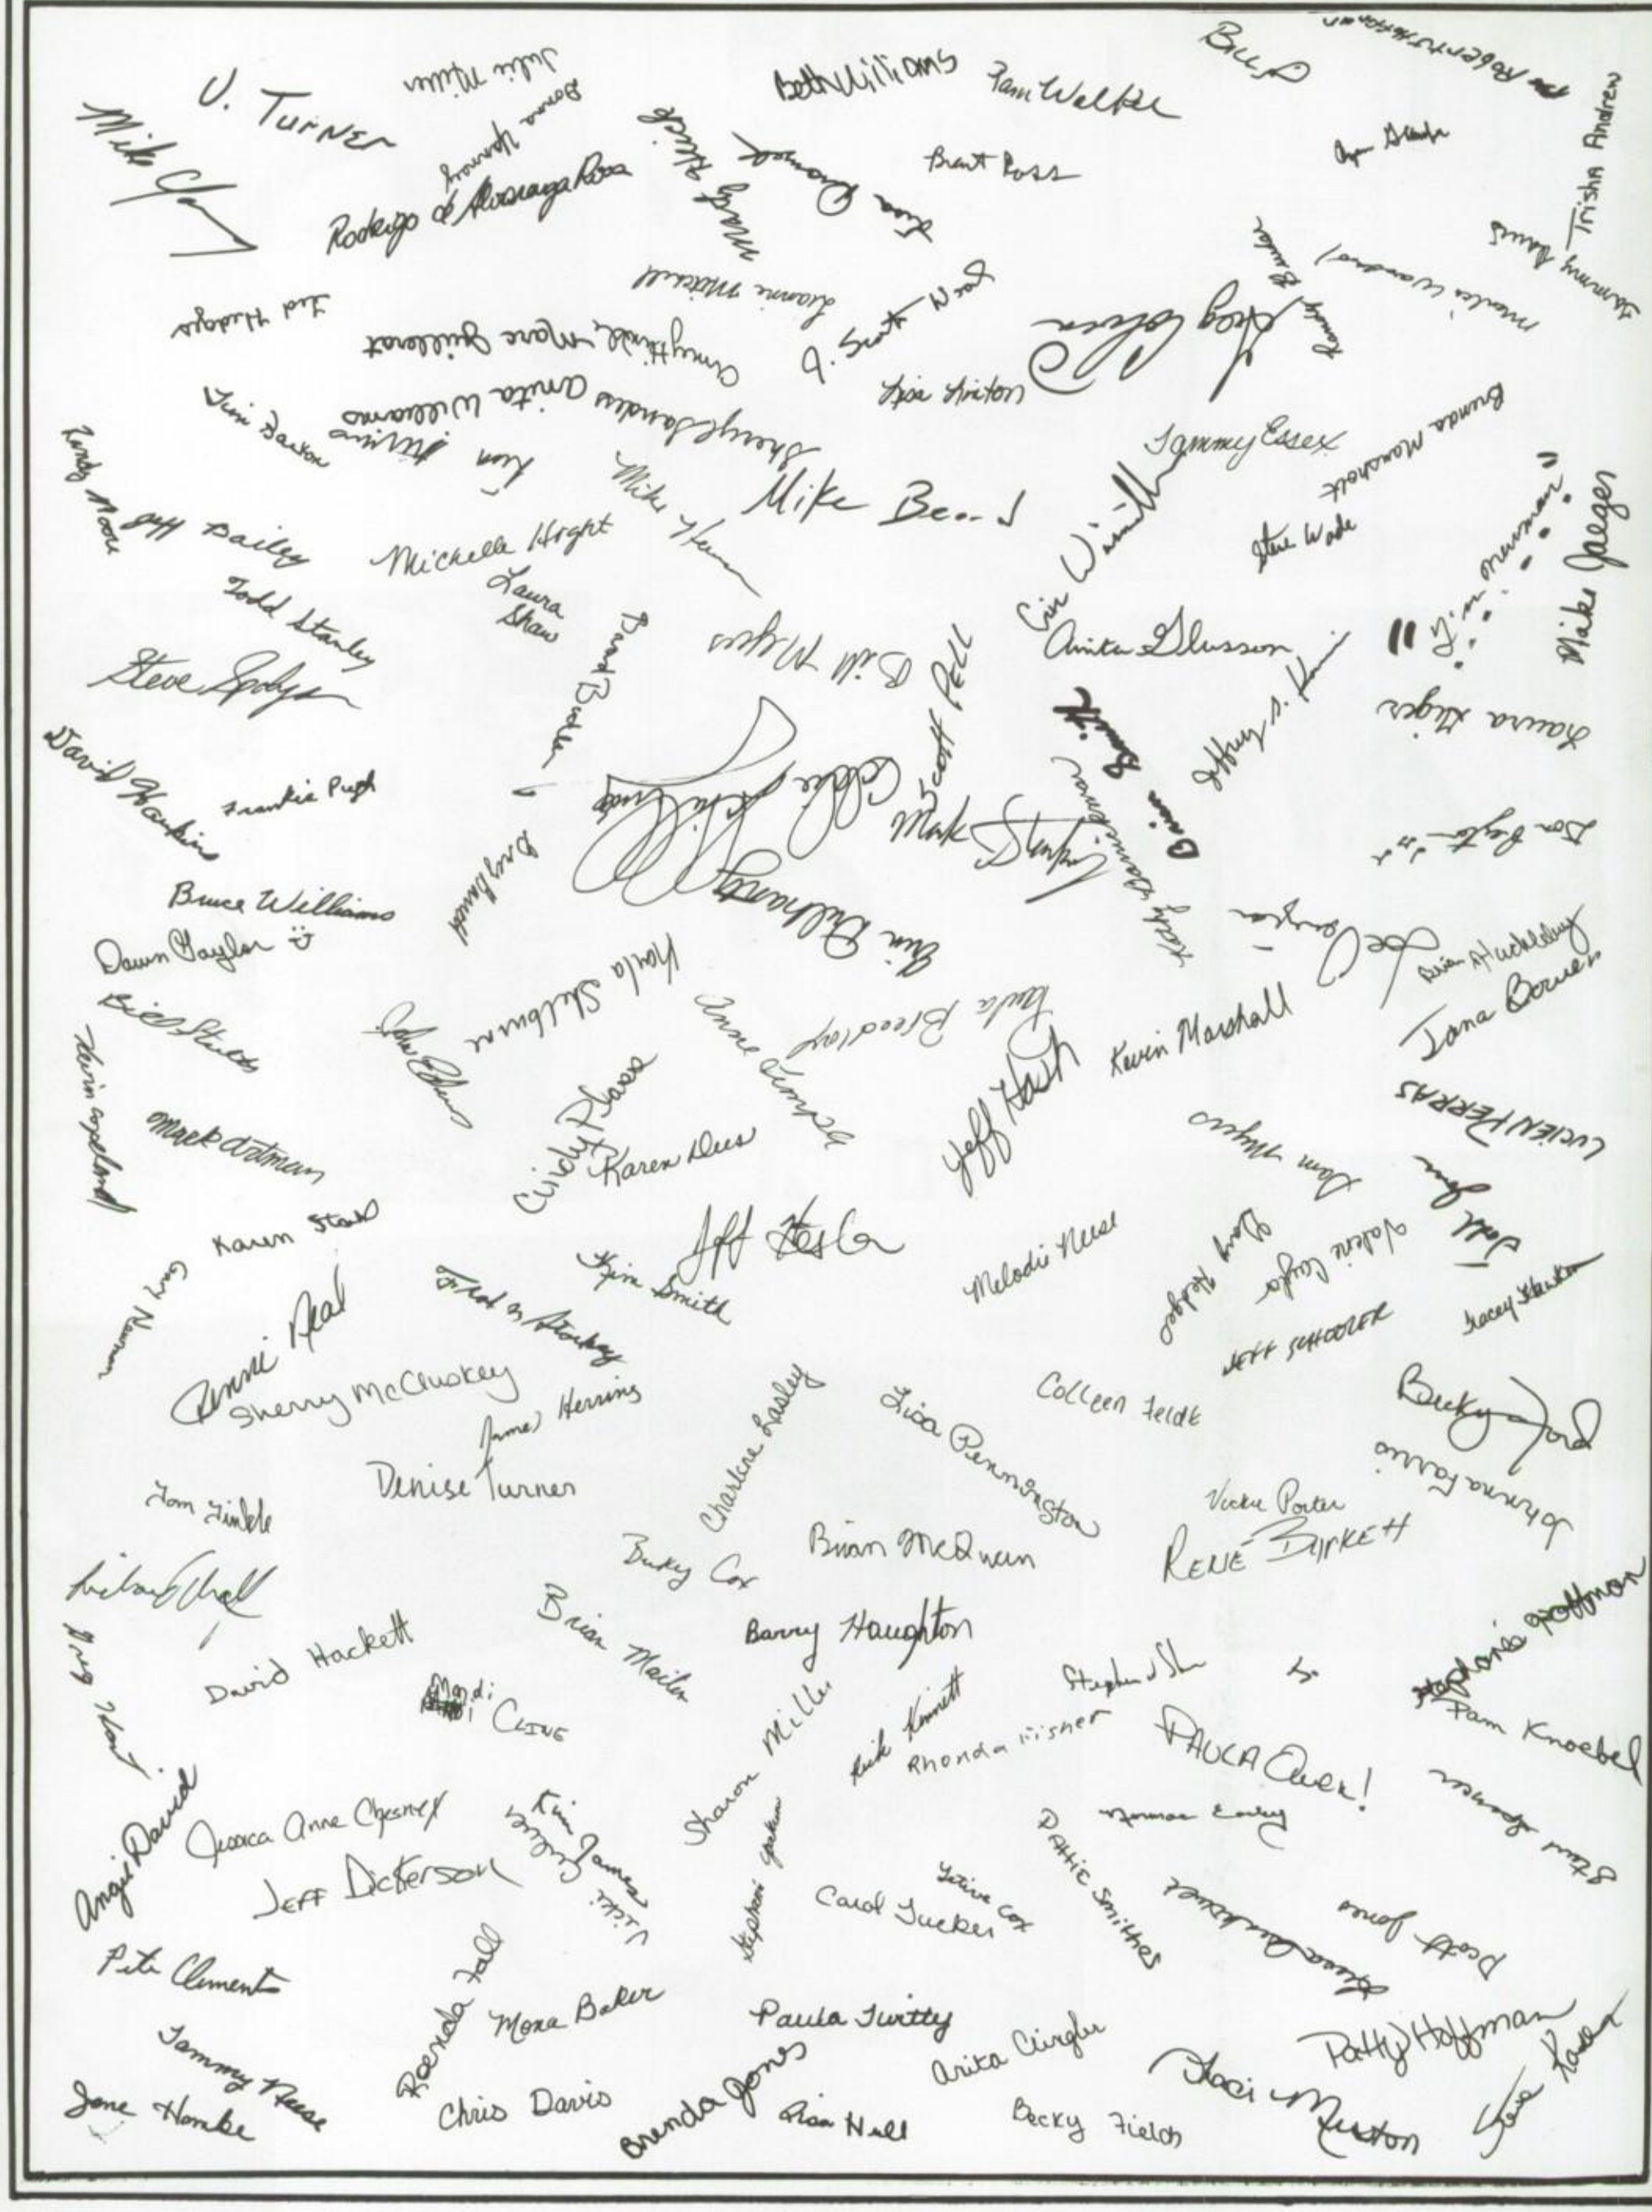
SAY CHEESE!









Candelabrum Committee: Mike Beard, Erin Dulhanty, Joe Venezia, Colleen Feldt, Eddie Schilling, Kathy Barrickman, Jeff Dickerson, Anita Williams.

As the Class of 1984, we have suffered many successes and a few defeats.

Like other classes before us, we spent our first year learning our way around the halls, when not to talk back to upperclassman, and finding our very own niche at LHS.

During our sophomore year, we were given the opportunity to enroll in drivers education, and many of us receive our drivers license. We all enjoyed cruising the town on weekends.

As juniors, we participated in the Candy Coke Committee and upgraded the quality of past proms with the Junior-Senior prom entitled "Reflections of Sweet Memories." As juniors, we also won the privilege of being named the winner of the Homecoming float.

Coming into our senior year with mixed emotions, there remained numerous tasks that demanded attention. We experienced the Senior Dinner Party, the fitting of caps and gowns, among many other activities.

The people who led the seniors through many accomplishments were president, Mike Beard; vice president, Erin Dulhanty; secretary, Colleen Feldt; council members Joe Venezia and Eddie Schilling, and petitionable seats Beth Williams and Mandi Cline.

The Candelabrum Committee performed its traditional ceremony for the first time at the Senior Dinner Party. Members are Mike Beard, Erin Dulhanty, Joe Venezia, Colleen Feldt, Eddie Schilling, Kathy Barrickman, Jeff Dickerson, Anita Williams.

The Senior Dinner Party was a smashing success. The dinner was once again held at Ulen Country Club, with more than 120 seniors, their sponsor Dan Charmichael, and guests attending. The guests were greeted at the door by council members and seated in assigned seats designated with personalized name cards. President Mike Beard greeted classmates and guests. Paula Owen gave the invocation and led the class in the Lord's Prayer.

The Candelabrum Ceremony was then presented by the committee, Mike Beard, Erin Dulhanty, Colleen Feldt, Joe Venezia, Kathy Barrickman, Eddie Schilling, Jeff Dickerson and Anita Williams.

Entertainment, following the roast beef dinner, consisted of the "David Letterman Show" skit, with Jeff Harris, Master of Ceremonies, pretending to be David Letterman. Eddie Schilling played his band conductor "Paul". The entire entertainment evolved around the "Letterman Show" with guests including, "Bob and Doug McKenzie" portrayed by Joe Venezia and Gary Hedges. The "Right Reverend," played by Jeff Schooler, brought the class to hysteria when he healed two corrupt persons, Jeff Dickerson and Steve Shure. The show also included an NBC tour, played by Paula Owen and Brent Ross. Following this, Laura Shaw and Charlene Lasley sang, "If Only You Believe." Jessica Chesney and Ross sang "Through the Years." The 20-year class reunion was a look into the future and what the people will be doing then. Returning students were Linton, Porter, Chesney, Pennington, Newman, Kaiser, Colvin, Perras, Jones, Schooler, Feldt, Dulhanty, Caylor, and Shure. Closing performances were songs by the senior choir and Lasley.

Juniors

The juniors, along with winning the powderpuff football game between the seniors-freshmen and the juniors-sophomores, also won the float competition in this year's homecoming parade. The theme to this year's homecoming being "Tigers Go to the Movies".

Although this may seem like quite a large task for the juniors to accomplish, the main task of the junior class was to help in the financing of the senior prom of 1984. They did this by selling cokes, hot-dogs, and popcorn to the many fans at the basketball games, greeting everyone with a friendly "Hi". Also with the help of their class sponsor, Janie Reynolds, who worked hard in getting the juniors prepared for such a time consuming task.

With much excitement of becoming upperclassmen, and getting to park in the senior parking lot, the juniors held out to make this year a success.

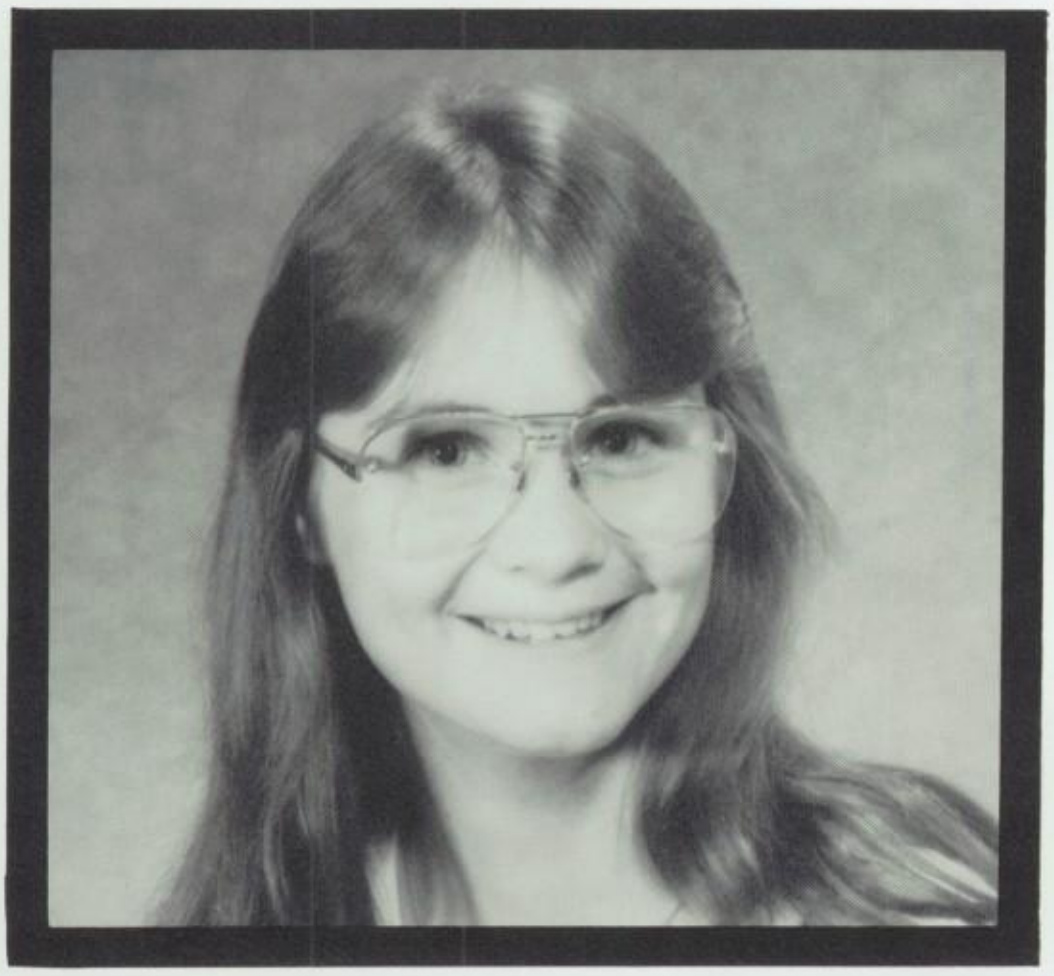
In Memorium



Annette Cole, a member of the 1983-84 junior class, will always be remembered by her peers as "kind, friendly and responsible." Her untimely death last fall saddened LHS students and staff members.

On behalf of the Lebanon High School community, the Cedars staff wants to express sympathy to Annette's family and friends.

Sophomores

The sophomore class, led by Penny Padgett, president; Julie Yoder, vice president; and Mary Lee, secretary had the duty of informing confused freshmen where their classes were, even though this sometimes ended in greater confusion than before. With Debbie Isenhower and Missy Stapleton as petitionable seats, who helped officers and had special duties at homecoming, the class couldn't have been more complete.

They were very ecstatic with such privileges as getting their driver's licenses and waiting to go out to eat for lunch as juniors, that made the year even more long and grueling, but they pulled it off quite well.

Freshman

Have you ever stopped to think about what it must be like for the freshmen to walk into the Lebanon High School on the first day and wonder, "Well, my student handbook says that my class is this way, but what if I have it turned upside down?" "I know, I'll just ask that very nice looking young man over there", and then to find out that that very nice looking young man was really a sneaking, kniving young sophomore or junior who wants nothing more than to make you look dumb or foolish.

Or have you ever stopped to think about what must be going through a freshman's head as he fills out his schedule and looks at all the classes he can take? Or the clubs that he can now be in? Or even the sports that he can now participate in?

The freshman class was headed by Andy Franklin, president; Nikki Surber, vice president; and Brandy Bunting secretary, who along with Amy Kincaid and Kris Belknap as petitionable seats, helped the freshmen, not only finding the classes, but also choosing the classes, clubs, and, sports that they could participate in.

Although they learned that the Middle School was just a part of the past, they also made many new friends and anticipated finally becoming upperclassmen.

Special Education

The Special Education Department, under the direction of Mrs. Marilyn Neese with the assistance of Mrs. Carolyn Gant and Miss Tammi Flood, took on many challenges this year. The students were taught safety skills in the kitchen and how to prepare many kinds of delicious meals.

As one of their field trips this year the department went to the Log Cabin. They also prepared their own Thanksgiving Dinner. Everyone had hours of pleasurable fun.

The students have worked very hard and are getting excited and anxious for the end of the school year and graduation. They did a fine job this year and everyone is very proud of them. They should all go far in the years to come.

Bobby rolls out the dough, as Dennis waits his turn.

All work and no play! — Still cookin'!

The Music Department Presents

The 1984 musical was the famous Roger and Hammerstein play "Carousal." The play takes place at the turn of the century. It involves a fairly large cast and has several chorus members. Two well known chorus members are: "June is Bustin' out all over," and "A Real Nice clam bake."

The plot of the show is about a barker for carousal who falls in love with a young girl and marries her. Out of work, he beats his wife; and after finding out she is pregnant, he attempts, robbery to get money and, in his attempt, fails and kills himself.

After venturing into heaven, he's given an opportunity to go back to earth and observe the daughter he never saw. Upon seeing her, he realizes that she is a mere reflection of himself and is disappointed. The leads are Billy Bigelow as portrayed by Jeff Pedersen and Julie Jorden played by Jennie Hall. Others are Louise; Susanne Reeves, who is the daughter of Bigelow, Carrie Ripperidge; Charline Lasley, Julie's best friend and Enoch Snow; John Saalwaechter, an enterprising stable businessman. The play includes several dance numbers. Some of the features dancers are Jessica Chesney, Sheryl Sanders, Angie Isenhower and Amy Kincaid. John Schmitt, Carousel's director, a new arrival to LHS music department from Western Boone, introduced a new aspect to L.H.S. musical by assinging Jessica Chesney as a student assistant director. Schmitt, with the help of many other organizations besides the music department was able to purchase a new back drop curtain track.

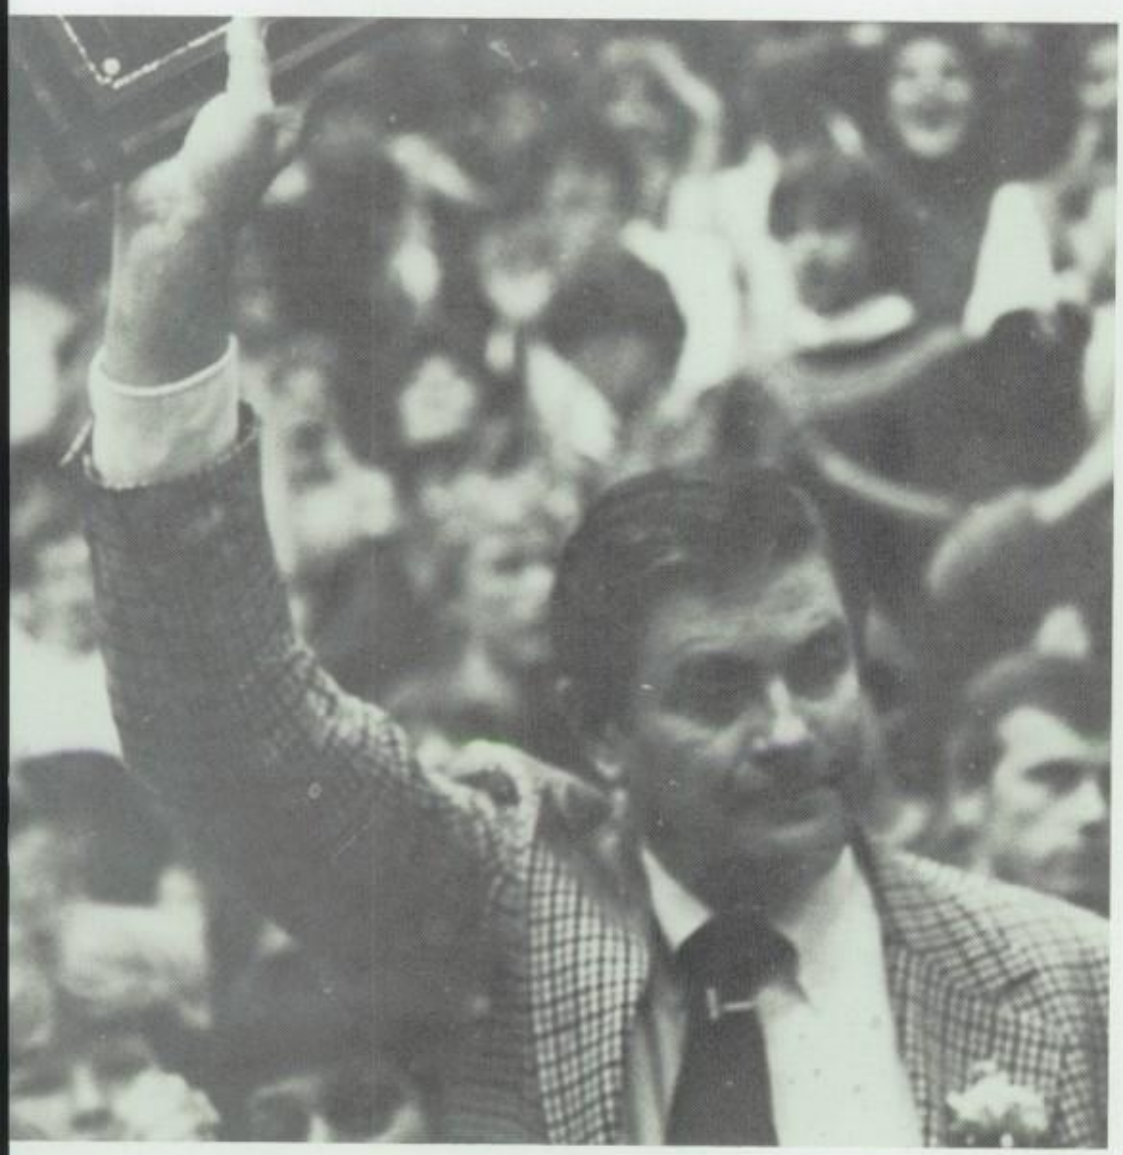
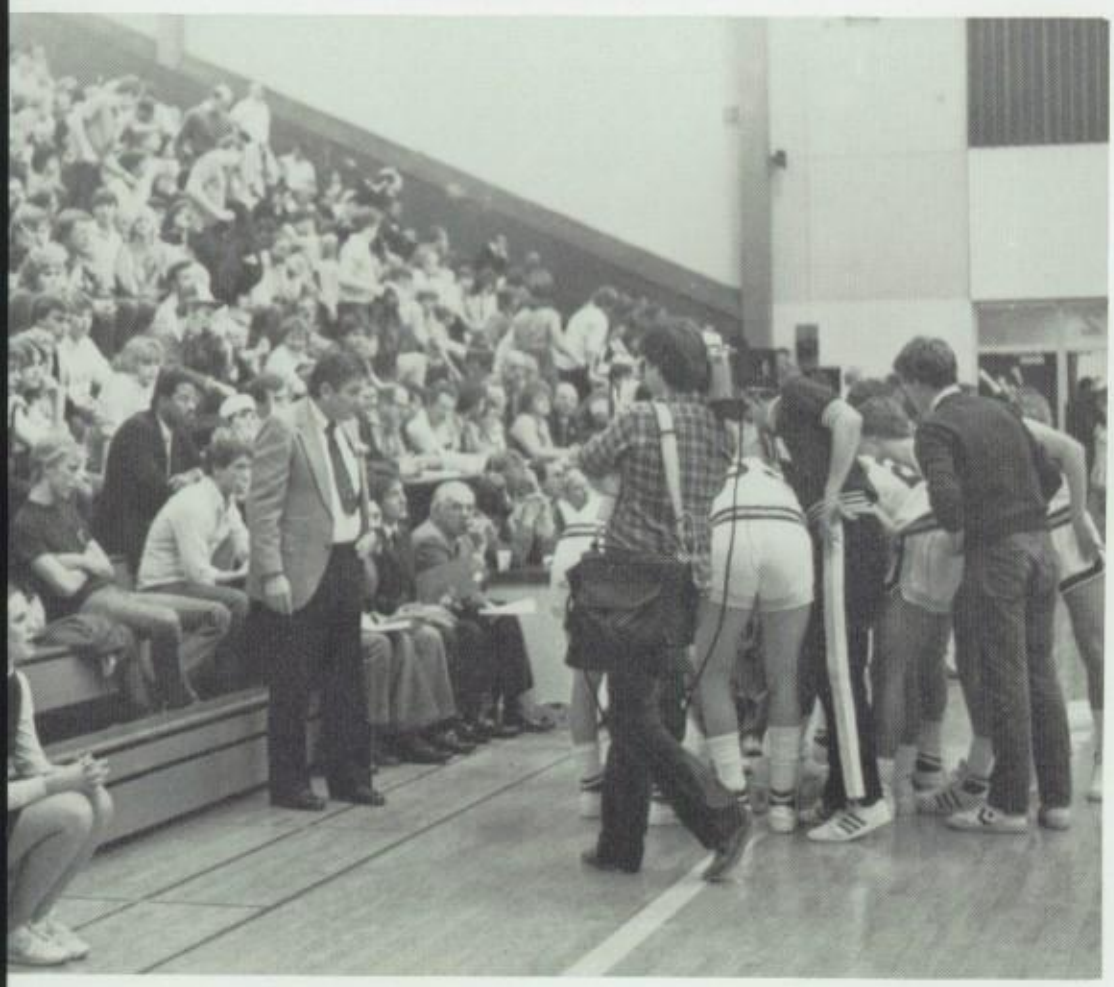
Coach Rosenstihl: 500th Success





Rosensthil started his coaching career in the fall of 1952 at Center Grove High School where he coached three years, winning 24 and losing 36. Then he moved back home to Zionsville where he played high school basketball before moving to Butler University to get his degree. At Zionsville, he spent six years and the eagles won 103 and lost 43. At Zionsville, his eagles won three sectionals. From Zionsville, he moved to Bluffton where he coached two years and the Bluffton team won 36 and lost 13.

In the spring of 1962, Lebanon was looking for a new basketball coach and the late Butch Neuman, then the principal of LHS, tabbed Rosenstihl as the coach even before Rosenstihl knew it. Neuman talked Rosenstihl into staying at Lebanon.

Rosie has been coaching LHS since the fall of 1962 and this is his 22nd year as the "Man in charge" of the LHS tigers. At Lebanon, Rosie has won 13 sectional titles, six regional crowns and one semi-final title.

The only time the Rosenstihl's tigers have appeared in the Final Four was in 1975.

According to coach Rosenstihl, he has many fine athletes to thank for all the games he has won and to name them would fill a book.

The night of the hopeful 500th win, three television stations, two radio stations and four newspapers, plus many sports figures, including several of coach Jim Rosenstihl's former athletes were gathered in the LHS goal hall to watch the Lebanon Tigers win their fifth straight basketball game but more important was the winning of Tiger coach Rosenstihl's 500th basketball game. Afterwards, coach was the center of attraction, being interviewed by all the television stations and the radio plus the press and being given awards by IHSAA commissioner Gene Cato, Lebanon High School and many others for the famous number 500 basketball victories.

Football

The 1983-84 Reserve Football team, led by captains Joe Osborne and Brian Boyland, started their struggling, exhausting season with some inexperienced and young players. For these reasons the first three games were downfalls. The squad then got their act together and were on a winning streak for four games then losing the last ending with a 4-4 record. Joe Osborne was noted for his fine playing ability against Crawfordsville when he made a 30 yard run, then ran for the two extra points. He also had two interceptions. The coaches, Bob Wilhite and Steve Psikula hope for another challenging team next year.

With no fumbles, no interceptions and only one five-yard penalty, the Tigers won. The team's other win was against Crawfordsville. Math Department

Mrs. Wilhite giving her all for the cause of square roots.

The Math Department has made quite a few changes over the last year. The computer classes were expanded to meet the popular demand of the students. Because of this demand, Mr. Dave Stephens, who usually never strays away from the business department, taught three computer classes this year. Mr. Stephens was not the only one who strayed a bit, Mr. James Bogan taught two math courses this year also.

The big personal change in the Math Department this year was Mrs. Debbie Heck, who replaced Mrs. Gwen Hopkins.

The courses taught in Math start with Algebra and go all the way up to analytic geometry. In today's world of growing technology these math skills which you learn now will become very important. Many of our teachers feel that there is still not enough math taught because there is not enough time in the day.

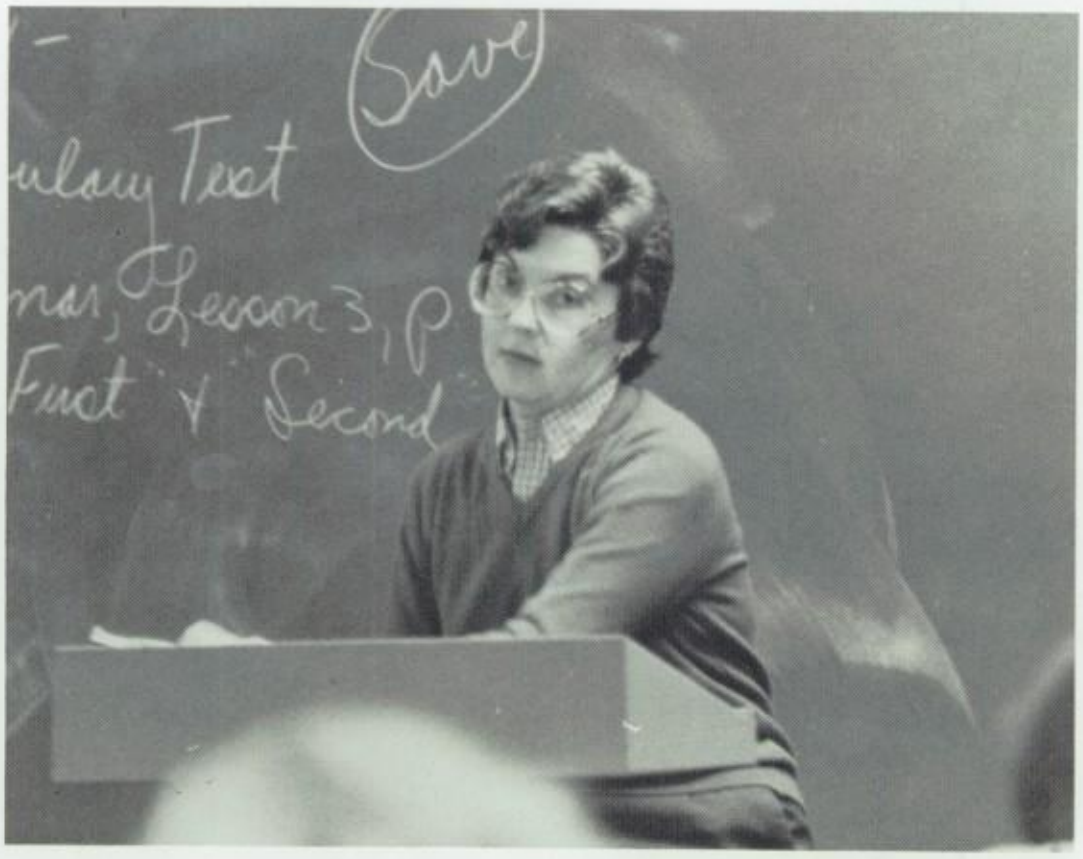
English Department



This is a classroom not a photography studio!

The English department took on some changes this year. Mrs. Sally Tanselle joined the staff and Mrs. Nancy Servies became the communications teacher.

The academic concerns of the English Department are basically the areas of grammar, vocabulary, spelling and literature. Several specific goals were set by the English teachers. They emphasized the importance of composing thoughts and organizing ideas. Students studied such topics as writing techniques, paragraph development and the writing of research papers.

Reading is something which students are not always enthusiastic about, although the English teachers do their best to make all the short-stories and novels as exciting as possible.

English is essential for those seniors who are planning to attend college. Seniors prepare themselves for the future by increasing their knowledge in the field of English.

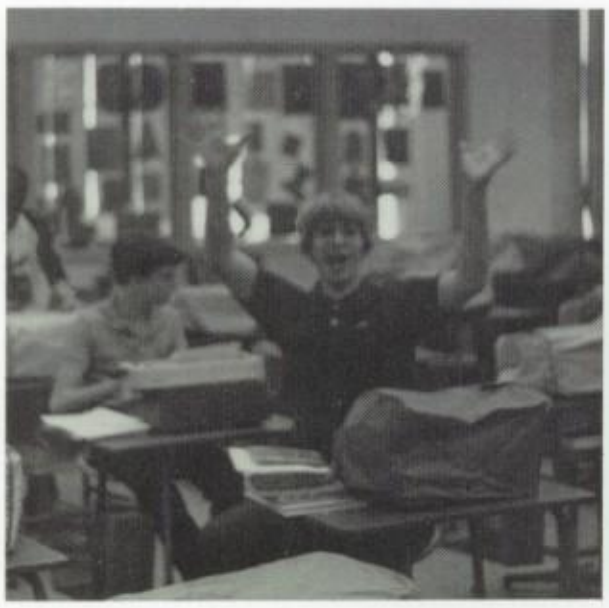
Business Department

Hey! Hey!! Hey!!! It's show time!



Mr. Diligence in action.

Are these the true feelings Lucien has for accounting???

The Business Department offers a variety of courses for those students interested in finding employment in the field of business after finishing their high school education. The Business Department strove to train the students efficiently.

Banking procedures and expenditure records were stressed upon bookkeepers, as well as the fundamentals of neatness, accounting, accuracy and businesslike manners.

Dictation and the structures of words were introduced to stenography students. Future secretaries were trained in typing skills and shorthand. Typists learned models of business arms and how to type with speed.

On the job training, provided by COE, was offered to interested students. This co-op program has proven worthwhile to both the students and the employers.

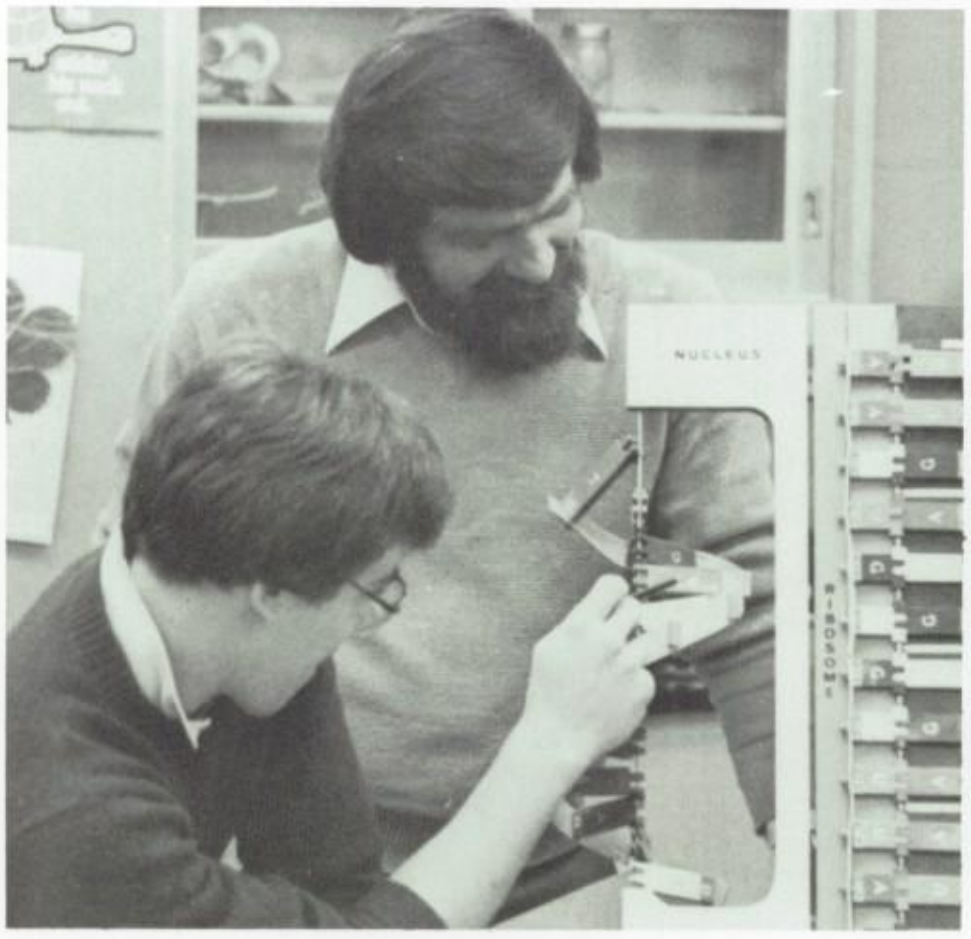
Science And Foreign Language Department



Mr. Gates is always helpful.

Damon Gates

The Science Department upheld that theories are devised from the observed occurence and calculations of research.

Courses in chemistry and physics furnish a basis for those students who are concerned with gaining knowledge of the more advanced philosophies of science.

In addition biology, earth science, and general science were offered to the students. These courses dealt with plant and animal life, the earth and its raw-materials, and essential laboratory experiments.

Recognizing the need for Foreign Language in our ever changing world, the Foreign Language Department gave its best effort to aid students in becoming voluble in French, German, and Spanish.

Students realize now that at least two years of the same foreign language are required to enter most colleges.

Grammar, cultures, ways of life, beliefs and values of the people were stressed.

Again this year the different Foreign Languages are combining together in one group for the Foreign Language Club.

The industrial arts department is headed by Mr. Orr. The Home-Ec department is handled by Mrs. Shipley.

In Industrial arts students were taught how to repair, clean and do check ups on cars. They also learned how to work with wood, how to weld, and the various printing techniques. Mr. Orr also teaches drafting.

The entire Industrial Arts department's aim is to introduce skills in which a student can advance.

In Home-Ec students learned how to sew, cook, and run a house the way one should be run. They learn discipline in the kitchen which helps in everyday life. The students, under the guidance of Vicky Zickmund and Janet Skipley, served a traditional Thanksgiving luncheon to staff members.

Classes For Personal Growth

Pride and dedication are put forth by all of the students enrolled in music and art classes. These students not only display their talents for the school, but for the whole community as well.

After many long hours of intense rehearsal and hard work, the music students presented the musical "Carousel" and a midwinter concert.

The Tiger Pride Band, directed by Scott Robbins, took a five day trip to Florida. While they were there, they took in such sights as Sea World, the Epoct Center, and they marched in a parade at the Magic Kingdom.

Keeping physically fit was a major goal of the students in gym classes. The development of individual skills were obtained by each student.

Substance Abuse classes learned all about drugs and their effects on people. Students were taught the dangers of drugs and how they can harm the body physically and emotionally.

Mr. James Rosenstihl served as the head coach of the varsity basketball team and a drivers education instructor.

The athletic director position was shared this year. Miss Magee served as the director for the girls and Mr. Lochmuller served as the director for the boys.

Assisting both Miss Magee and Mr. Lochmuller was Marilyn Davis. She organized records, set up appointments and helped with ticket sales.

The Art Department headed by Mrs. Lochmuller has been successful in decorating LHS, adding a different environment to spice up school life.

The Special Resource area is made up of various skilled personel. The W.E.C.E.P. and special education facilities are headed by Mr. Reed, Mrs. Neese and Mr. Wolf respectively. Carolyn Gant is an important part of the special education department because of her tremendous help and devotion all year long. Together they try to teach students basic studies which will help them in the classroom and out.

The speech and hearing department is run by Mrs. Million and Mrs. Bramblett, who both test and tutor students.

Mrs. Cassell runs the clinic with a high level of enthusiasm. She is always kept busy with the many students who cross her path with one sort of problem or another.

Mary Brown Leaves After 27 Years

Mrs. Brown taught at Lebanon High School for twenty-seven years. She taught Social Studies and Freshman English. She also sponsored Forensic, Speech and Debate teams. Mrs. Brown attended Whitestown High School and went to Ball State University in Muncie. She has always been well respected by her students and her fellow teachers. When asked what her future plans are she said "I am going to travel with my husband and do what I want to do."

Mrs. Brown brought successful teaching to LHS. She has given full attention to her profession for many years, playing an important part in the leadership role at LHS. This is something which is very essential to the success of LHS.

Beverly Hershman Retires

Mrs. Hershman taught school for many years. She started in elementary school to a counselor in the guidance department at Lebanon Middle School. She then came to LHS to help and council in our department.

Mrs. Hershman left LHS for health reasons and we all wish her the best of luck.

Cooks And Custodians

Paula Mabbitt, Jewel Johnson, Frances Tinkle, Diana Love, Lorna Shafer, Phyllis Warren, Therasa Edwards, Sally Shepherd, Vivian Sheets, Patty Beck, Phyllis Edwards

Dianna Francher, Norma Langolf, Ivan Smith, Betty Williams, Pat Vest

The Cooks and Custodians adapted well to the "new look" of the cafeteria and have done a fine job in keeping LHS clean and providing wholesome lunches for the students.

LHS After Hours

If you have ever stayed after school, you can see teachers, students, and custodians working over-time to meet deadlines, schedules and catch-up on the never-ending work. It takes an abundance of extra time and hard work to succeed. At one time or another we have all had to stay "after hours." To the wrestler running more and more miles, to the swimmer who keeps on stroking after his muscles ache, to the guard group who stays after school to practice and comes in on Saturdays. Also, to the teacher who plans better and better material for the students, to the football player who lifts weights everyday even after the season has ended, to the long-distance runner who prepares all summer for a meet, to the chemistry student who studies forever for an exam, to the principal who works late on Sundays, to the band director who spends hours to prepare a field show — you are a special type of person who cares to be a success and has the "something extra" to make yourself better and represent LHS with pride and enthusiasm. Our school is a success because of the people. Without the extra work school would just be another building to walk into, do what is required, and leave.

Success in high school does not have to end when you leave the place of learning. It has only just begun!

Farewell To Pages!

This yearbook was produced to keep in mind the enjoyable, memorable and exciting events of this past school year. Uniting the artistic talents, creative writing skills and "underwater" photography of the Editors and two staff photographers, we hope the collection of memories brings laughter as you turn the pages. Thus touching some aspect of your high school experiences. The combined efforts took long hours and hard work to meet deadlines, but the never-ending work done by the staff paid off. Many people need to be thanked for their help in guidance, dedication, words of "wisdom", and overall support! These people are, Dick Maurer, Josten's Yearbook Advisor and T-shirt salesman, Dave Orr, for the $22 picture, Jim Maines, for taking the Senior Class photo, letting us use his camera, making the Senior Signature Page possible and giving us printing assistance. Bill Cripe our over-all photographer did a fine job on Senior Portraits. The understudies helped, but at first they did not understand the necessity of their jobs. As time went by they got the idea. Good Luck and best wishes on the 1985 Cedars!! Each editor will always appreciate our sponsor Jeannie Martin's "Love and Kisses" and value her patience, understanding and friendship. When deadline days were creeping up there were times when I thought nothing would get done. She was there to assure me LHS would get a Cedars. I would especially like to thank the editors. Although we worked hard we had fun sharing friendships and good times — this is priceless to me. Being the Editor-in-chief is the most important accomplishment of my LHS career.

When the staff attended Yearbook Camp at Hanover College we tried to think of a theme that represented LHS, with the help of Mrs. Martin, we came up with SUCCESS. Paula Breedlove had the idea of useing the Road. Finally the book became "The Road To Success," meaning that you are now beginning the road at LHS and can continue throughout your life to be a SUCCESS!
